Are you livin' it up

Faith has given me a chance to live
It's better to forget than to forgive
If time is on my side I let it go, and lose control

It's taken me a moment to commit
Now that there's atonement I won't quit
It's a better way to live, I let it go, and lose control

You've given me a reason to persist
I found my joy within our secret tryst
We've taken all our parts to make us whole, and lose control
